By: Beth Watson

Supplies Needed:

- 9" x 12" craft cuts Kunin Classicfelt: Walnut Brown and Red
- 9" x 12" craft cuts Kunin Corduroy: Walnut Brown and Sandstone
- Tombow MONO Drawing Pen 05
- Tombow Fastener Tabs
- PATTERNS; Hot Glue Gun and Glue Sticks; Pencil; Eraser; Scissors; Plain Paper; Chipboard; Black Buttons 1/2" (2); Red and White Bakers Twine (6" and 36").

How To Make It

1. Download and print the sock monkey patterns HERE. Cut out, trace onto chipboard and cut out again. Trace sock monkey head pattern on to Kunin Classicfelt Walnut AND Kunin Corduroy Walnut, trace hat and muzzle pattern on to Kunin Corduroy Sandstone and trace mouth pattern on to Kunin Classicfelt Red with MONO Drawing Pen 05. Cut out all pieces with scissors. TIP: Remember to cut INSIDE the lines for a neat and clean finished project.
2. Cut two 12" by ¼" strips from Kunin Classicfelt Red. Fold strips in half, then in half again. Tie tightly with a 6" length of bakers twine, trim ends. Cut loops to create a pom pom.
3. Hot glue sock monkey heads together from top of left ear to top of right ear, making sure to place Corduroy pattern on top. Glue both ears together.
4. Hot glue hat to sock monkey head and pom pom to top of hat. Glue muzzle to head and mouth to muzzle. Attach buttons as eyes with hot glue. Draw mouth onto red felt mouth with drawing pen.
5. Peel back liner paper from hook and loop self-adhesive Fastener Tab and attach to top, inside edge of sock monkey head. Peel back second liner paper and press firmly to adhere.
6. To create a sock monkey business card holder, cut 36" length of bakers twine and insert 1" on each side as you are gluing the head pieces together.
